

Tampa Bay Time Bank Social and Open House Third Tuesday of Each Month 6:30pm Snacks/Refreshments 7pm-8:30pm Meeting

Tampa Bay Time Bank (TBT) is a community skills exchange, also known as a "time bank." Time banking is a way to exchange services as a complement to the cash economy. Tampa Bay Time Bank members trade skills gained from work, education, life experience, hobbies, and volunteering, while making friends and building community. Time banking is egalitarian. All activities are valued, and all activities are valued equally. One hour equals one hour. Each hour of work is equal to every other, regardless of the activity. TBT members earn credit by doing something for another member, then use the credit by having any other member do something for them.

Everyone is welcome and anyone willing to maintain a high level of trust is invited to join the TBT community. Everyone has something to offer and everyone has needs. By participating, each member contributes to creating a resilient and sustainable community.
